

4 reasons to celebrate autumn in the Garden!

ATLANTA (July 21, 2025) – The Atlanta Botanical Garden takes on a whole new life in autumn as days grow cooler and shorter. Here are four reasons to count down to fall:

- Scarecrows in the Garden. This fan-favorite exhibit features dozens of scarecrows created by businesses, artists, schools and families that are perched throughout both the Midtown and Gainesville locations through the month of October. The entries compete for spooktacular prizes, too, just to up the ante! See which one gets your vote.
- Fest-of-Ale. On Thursdays through Saturdays in October, check out the scarecrows at dusk while enjoying craft beers and live entertainment during Fest-of-Ale from 5 – 8 p.m.
- Goblins in the Garden. Show off your child's Halloween costume on the Goblin's Runway, participate in fall family activities and enjoy pony rides and train rides, all while exploring Scarecrows in the Garden! Mark your calendar for October 19 from 10 a.m. – 4 p.m.
- Great Pumpkin-Carving Festival. Celebrate all things autumn at this annual event October 23 featuring teams of talented amateur carvers at both Garden locations competing for grand prizes from 5 – 9 p.m.

Scarecrows in the Garden is sponsored with support from Audi Atlanta and Kaiser Permanente.

The mission of the Atlanta Botanical Garden is to develop and maintain plant collections for display, education, research, conservation and enjoyment. The Garden is located at 1345 Piedmont Ave. NE. For information, visit atlantabg.org or phone 404-876-5859.
